Open House at World Maritime University

This is to inform you that it has been agreed between the local United Nations' Support Organization in Malmö and the University to hold an open house on United Nations' activities at the University on Saturday 5 September between 13.00 and 16.00 hours. It will not be necessary to engage any of the General Service Staff in those activities as our three Programme Officers have consented to take visitors around the building and as I will be present myself to give brief introductions about University activities. Representatives of the local United Nations' Support Organization will arrange information regarding various United Nations' Bodies in the corridor outside the Reception and they will also arrange for all written information, preparations and advertisements etc. It is not intended to serve any refreshments to visitors and the arrangements are accordingly not expected to have any economic consequences for the University.

It would be appreciated if the WMU and the IMO flags could be hoisted in advance of 13.00 hours that day on the two flag poles outside the main entrance and also that all equipment on the bridge is operative during visiting hours. I am sending out this information also because members of staff and their families are more than welcome to tour the facilities of the University in connection with the open house.
