

World Maritime University

The Maritime Commons: Digital Repository of the World Maritime University

WMU in the News

9-15-1989

Busy students

Monitor

Follow this and additional works at: https://commons.wmu.se/wmu_news

This News Article is brought to you courtesy of Maritime Commons. Open Access items may be downloaded for non-commercial, fair use academic purposes. No items may be hosted on another server or web site without express written permission from the World Maritime University. For more information, please contact library@wmu.se.

Busy students

THE World Maritime University has a reputation for working its students exceptionally hard.

Indeed, most other universities would be looked upon as holiday camps by the 100 graduates who emerge from its Malmo campus each year.

They don't even let up when they are away. We can vouch for this, having seen a detachment from the Technical Management of Shipping Companies course flashing around the City this week on a series of visits to maritime institutions in London.

The Baltic Exchange, Lloyd's, BP, Sedgwick, Thomas Miller and Lloyd's Register and, of course, their IMO parent were all on the agenda.

"No time for shopping, plenty of time for shipping," ruefully noted one of the students as he rushed off to his next visit.

Monitor